Mobile software and platform provider Access Co., Ltd. announced a global partnership with multi-service optimization solutions developer Bytemobile to co-develop and market solutions targeting the improvement of the mobile web browsing experience. Bytemobile will integrate its embedded browser optimization technology with Access' NetFront Browser and NetFront Mobile Client Suite products, promising faster Internet downloads and improved performance across smartphones and feature phones. Access and Bytemobile said the solution will benefit network operators and subscribers by reducing data volumes and improving bandwidth efficiencies.
